

Rhode Island Federally Assisted Benefit Program (RI-FAB)

Program Description

The Rhode Island Federally Assisted Benefit Program (RI-FAB) is available for eligible Rhode Islander through the Ryan White HIV/AIDS program. This federal assistance program offers health insurance premium and cost-sharing assistance to individuals living with HIV/AIDS who don't have health insurance and qualify for the RI AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP).

RI-FAB premium assistance is available for people living with HIV and their family members who qualify. There is a choice of health plans offered through HealthSource RI. All potential RI-FAB enrollees must complete an official RI-FAB application. Please see your case manager for more information and help applying. Dental coverage is now offered for individuals with HIV on the RI-FAB program. A Ryan White case manager will assist the client in determining the amount of premium assistance, and cost-sharing and advanced premium tax credits. Drug copays are limited to the ADAP formulary. All other drugs not on the ADAP formulary (that may be covered by the commercial plan) may require out of pocket copays not covered by RI-FAB.

Eligibility for RI-FAB

- Have annual income less than 500 % of the FPL
- Have a documented HIV diagnosis
- Be a Rhode Island resident
- Have either a medical case manager or non-medical case manager affiliated with a Rhode Island Ryan White-funded agency
- Must already be enrolled in the AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP)
