Request to Serve on the Integrated Care Initiative Implementation Council

The Integrated Care Initiative is a program for seniors (age 65+) and people with physical, mental, behavioral and intellectual/developmental disabilities. We would like to ensure that the different populations included in the ICI are represented on the Council and that people from different ethnic and racial backgrounds are represented as well. If you are comfortable doing so, please tell us whether you are a senior or person with a disability and/or how you describe your racial and ethnic background:

Please tell us why you are interested in serving on the Council.

Request to Serve on the Integrated Care Initiative Implementation Council

About the Integrated Care Initiative Implementation Council

The Rhode Island Executive Office of Health and Human Services (EOHHS) is developing a new program for seniors and people with disabilities. This program is called the Integrated Care Initiative (ICI). EOHHS is developing a committee to allow us to hear from people like you as we move forward with this program. The Council will provide input on ICI to EOHHS, monitor consumer access to health care and long-term services and supports, help develop outcome measures, review issues raised through consumer grievances and appeals, and help develop consumer-friendly communications materials.
